

The Marine
Mammal Center.®

Stewardship Saturday

For high school students

January 25

10:20 AM - 2:30 PM PT

Location:

1 New Years Creek
Rd. Pescadero, CA

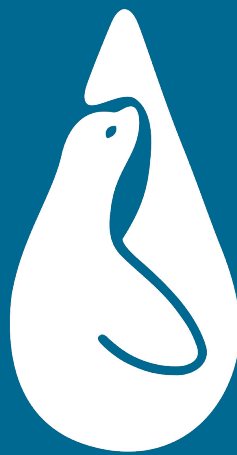

Join Año Nuevo State Park and The Marine Mammal Center as we explore a natural breeding ground for one of the Center's most common patients – elephant seals! Through this event you will learn more about these amazing creatures, how both organizations work to care for them in their natural environment and at the Center's hospital, and better understand the role they play in our ocean ecosystem. We hope by the end of this event you will have a stronger understanding and appreciation of elephant seals, and will have some goals for next steps to take on your conservation journey.

Register now for this free
learning opportunity!

billy

The Marine
Mammal Center.®

Stewardship Saturday

For high school students

January 25

10:20 AM - 2:30 PM PT

Location:

1 New Years Creek
Rd. Pescadero, CA

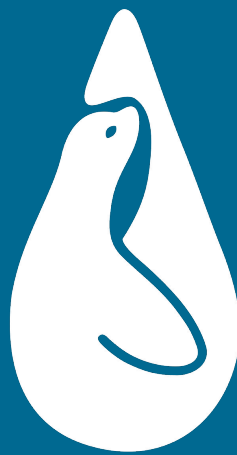

Join Año Nuevo State Park and The Marine Mammal Center as we explore a natural breeding ground for one of the Center's most common patients – elephant seals! Through this event you will learn more about these amazing creatures, how both organizations work to care for them in their natural environment and at the Center's hospital, and better understand the role they play in our ocean ecosystem. We hope by the end of this event you will have a stronger understanding and appreciation of elephant seals, and will have some goals for next steps to take on your conservation journey.

Register now for this free
learning opportunity!

billy

The Marine
Mammal Center.®

Stewardship Saturday

For high school students

January 25

10:20 AM - 2:30 PM PT

Location:

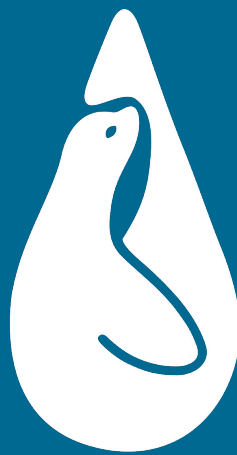

1 New Years Creek
Rd. Pescadero, CA

Join Año Nuevo State Park and The Marine Mammal Center as we explore a natural breeding ground for one of the Center's most common patients – elephant seals! Through this event you will learn more about these amazing creatures, how both organizations work to care for them in their natural environment and at the Center's hospital, and better understand the role they play in our ocean ecosystem. We hope by the end of this event you will have a stronger understanding and appreciation of elephant seals, and will have some goals for next steps to take on your conservation journey.

Register now for this free
learning opportunity!

The Marine
Mammal Center.®

Stewardship Saturday

For high school students

January 25

10:20 AM - 2:30 PM PT

Location:

1 New Years Creek
Rd. Pescadero, CA

Join Año Nuevo State Park and The Marine Mammal Center as we explore a natural breeding ground for one of the Center's most common patients – elephant seals! Through this event you will learn more about these amazing creatures, how both organizations work to care for them in their natural environment and at the Center's hospital, and better understand the role they play in our ocean ecosystem. We hope by the end of this event you will have a stronger understanding and appreciation of elephant seals, and will have some goals for next steps to take on your conservation journey.

Register now for this free
learning opportunity!

billy